

METHOD FOR AUTOMATICALLY REPORTING A SYSTEM FAILURE IN A SERVER

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A method of reporting a system failure in a server system, which includes the following acts: detecting a system failure condition; transmitting failure information related to the failure condition to a system recorder; storing the failure information into a system log; sending an event signal to a system interface; and reporting an occurrence of an event to a central processing unit of the server system.

10

RCK-1221://ss4
091897